Exemplary High School Student Athletes Receive Scholarships from Reliant Energy
Company Has Awarded More than $100,000 in Scholarships to Houston-area
Students Since 2006

HOUSTON – The future looks brighter for eight Houston-area high school student-athletes thanks to Reliant Energy and the Houston Texans. Reliant awarded each student a $5,000 scholarship for academic and athletic achievement through its Scholarship for Champions - Powering Strong Minds and Bodies program, a partnership between Reliant and the Texans to encourage youth education through sports.

Since the program's inception in 2006, Reliant has awarded 40 Houston-area high school student athletes $104,000 in scholarships.

"We're proud to help these deserving students reach their educational goals," said Jason Few, Reliant Energy President. "We're deeply committed to supporting youth education through sports, after-school programs and educational activities that inspire, enrich and make a positive difference in the lives of our youth."

"I'm proud of what we've accomplished through our partnership with Reliant Energy. We've recognized 40 students with scholarships to help them excel in higher education," said Houston Texans President Jamey Rootes. "Supporting and encouraging youth to be the best they can be inside and outside of the classroom is a win for us."

The Scholarship for Champions program reflects the values of Reliant's parent company, NRG Energy. "Supporting schools, students and education is one of the most important ways that we contribute to the communities we serve," said John Ragan, NRG Regional President, Texas.
